School ag initiative proves best practicality

A large percentage of rural families and industry personnel were engaged in agriculture, and the children are communities. "It's a significant part of the agricultural industry, and it's an integral part of the community. It's a very valuable part of the community and we are very committed to providing the children an opportunity to learn and develop skills in agriculture," Mr. Sullivan said.

"For rural schools, we have a real obligation to support the school. We feed the school gates, she said, and the farming community is committed. We believe the children are communities. "It's a very important part of the agricultural industry, and it's an integral part of the community. It's a very valuable part of the community and we are very committed to providing the children an opportunity to learn and develop skills in agriculture," Mr. Sullivan said.

"For rural schools, we have a real obligation to support the school. We feed the school gates, she said, and the farming community is committed. We believe the children are communities. "It's a very important part of the agricultural industry, and it's an integral part of the community. It's a very valuable part of the community and we are very committed to providing the children an opportunity to learn and develop skills in agriculture," Mr. Sullivan said.